Re: Corey Davis v. Joy Brown, et al Cv-12-1906

Dear Judge Boyle:

I am the plaintiff in the above titled action. I received the Order that you issued on August 29, 2012. In it you scheduled a teleconference for "All parties" for October 11, 2012 at 11:00 a.m. Under the heading "Discovery Agenda at the Telephone Conference" you stated that the Pro se plaintiff is "exempt...from automatic disclosure, otherwise required...and from the planning conference, otherwise required by Rule 26(f), Fed.R.Civ.P.,..."

I find myself confused as to whether or not I am required and or have the right to participate in this telephone conference. I ask you to please clarify for me if I am required to participate, or if I have the right to attend via telephone.

If I am required to participate, I ask the Court to assist me in insuring that I am able to meet this requirement. The federal prison I'm in will not take any affirmative action in allowing an inmate to conduct telephone conferences. The institution requires the court to contact the inmates counselor in advance of the conference. If my participation is required or permissible, I ask the court to please contact Ms. Brown, my counselor and make the necessary arrangements for me to attend this conference via telephone.

I thank the Court for all attention to this matter.

Very Truly Yours,

Corey Davis @42898-053
